Building enduring businesses in Central Texas

Introduction

This guide provides comprehensive brand and marketing resources for Texas Exploration, a search fund focused on acquiring and operating exceptional small businesses in Central Texas. Use this document as your reference for maintaining consistent, professional communications across all touchpoints.

The resources in this guide have been designed to work together seamlessly, ensuring your brand presence is cohesive whether you're updating your website, sending an email, or meeting with a business owner.

Background on Texas Exploration

Texas Exploration is a search fund founded by Zakk Fleischmann and based in Austin, Texas. The company was established with a focused mission: to acquire and operate a single exceptional small business in Central Texas that can be owned and grown for decades.

Our Story

Texas Exploration was born from a belief that the best businesses are built on enduring principles rather than short-term gains. We're not looking for quick flips, aggressive restructuring, or portfolio-building strategies. Instead, we're committed to finding one great company with strong fundamentals, a dedicated team, and real growth potential—and then dedicating ourselves fully to its long-term success.

Based in Austin with deep roots in Central Texas, we understand the regional business landscape, the values that drive success here, and the importance of community ties. Our local focus isn't just geographic—it's a commitment to understanding the markets, relationships, and culture that make Central Texas businesses unique.

What We're Building

Texas Exploration represents a different approach to business acquisition. We're structured as a search fund, which means we have committed capital from experienced investors who understand entrepreneurship through acquisition. But unlike traditional private equity or serial acquirers, we're looking for a single business to pour our energy into.

Our acquisition criteria reflect our long-term orientation:

- EBITDA: $500K–$3M annually
- Location: Central Texas (Austin, San Antonio, and surrounding areas)
- Industries: Manufacturing, distribution, business services, specialty trades (though we remain open to exceptional opportunities in other sectors)
- Characteristics: Established customer relationships, strong team in place, stable operations with clear growth potential

Our Philosophy

Four core values guide everything we do:

Service — We believe businesses exist to serve their employees, customers, and communities. Profit is important, but it's a result of service well-delivered, not an end in itself.

Endurance — We're building for the long term. Our commitment is measured in decades, not quarters. This means making decisions that prioritize sustainable growth over short-term optimization.

Legacy — Every business we consider has a story, a culture, and a legacy built by its founder and team. We see ourselves as stewards of that legacy, honoring what came before while building what comes next.

Excellence — We hold ourselves to the highest standards in every aspect of our work—from how we conduct our search to how we'll operate the business we acquire.

Our Approach to Acquisition

We take a patient, thoughtful approach to finding the right business. We're not interested in aggressive timelines or forced fits. When we find a company that meets our criteria, we approach the opportunity with transparency, respect, and professionalism.

For business owners, we understand that selling a company isn't just a financial transaction—it's a deeply personal decision. We're committed to honest communication, fair negotiation, and preserving the culture and values that made the business successful.

For brokers and intermediaries, we're serious, well-capitalized buyers who move efficiently and professionally. We don't play games, we don't renegotiate at the eleventh hour, and we respect the work you do to bring quality opportunities to market.

Looking Ahead

Texas Exploration is actively searching for the right acquisition opportunity. We're well-capitalized, experienced, and ready to move quickly when we find the right fit. More importantly, we're ready to commit ourselves fully to building something enduring—a business that will thrive for generations to come.

Mission & Positioning

Company Mission

To acquire and steward exceptional small businesses in Central Texas, preserving their legacy while building enduring value for employees, customers, and communities.

Positioning Statement

About Section

Who We Are

Texas Exploration was founded on a simple belief: the best businesses are built on service, endurance, and respect for what came before. We're not looking for quick flips or overnight transformations. We're looking for companies with deep roots, strong cultures, and real potential—businesses we can own and operate for decades.

Based in Austin and focused on Central Texas, we understand the regional landscape and the values that drive successful businesses here. Whether you're a business owner considering succession or a broker representing a quality company, we'd welcome the conversation.

What We're Looking For

We're seeking established businesses in Central Texas with:

- $500K–$3M in EBITDA
- Strong, stable customer relationships
- A dedicated team in place
- Growth potential through operational improvements
- Industries we're particularly interested in: manufacturing, distribution, business services, and specialty trades

Our Approach

We take a patient, thoughtful approach to acquisitions. We're not private equity, and we're not looking to strip down or flip companies. When we acquire a business, we're committing to steward it for the long term—honoring its legacy while building on its strengths.

We believe the best acquisitions are built on trust and transparency. Whether you're an owner considering retirement or a broker representing a client, we'll work with you directly, honestly, and professionally.

- "Our disciplined approach focuses on operational excellence and sustainable value creation."
- "We're building a portfolio company that will generate returns for decades, not just years."

Common Questions & Answers

What's your acquisition timeline?

We're actively searching now and plan to close on the right opportunity within the next 12-24 months. That said, we're patient—we'd rather wait for the right fit than rush into the wrong deal.

What happens to the existing team after acquisition?

One of our core principles is continuity. We believe the team that built the business should be part of its future. We work closely with existing management and employees, providing support and resources while respecting the culture that's already in place.

Do you have financing in place?

Yes. We have committed capital from a group of experienced investors who understand entrepreneurship through acquisition. We can move quickly once we find the right opportunity.

What industries are you focused on?

We're industry-agnostic but particularly interested in manufacturing, distribution, business services, and specialty trades. More important than industry is finding a business with strong fundamentals, a solid team, and real growth potential.
